

8th Annual Senior Lawyers Conference

Presented in cooperation with the NJSBA Senior Lawyers Special Committee

As a young lawyer, an experienced practitioner or a senior attorney, do you have a strategy in place for retirement? New Jersey attorneys need to be thinking of these issues now. How will repeal of the estate tax impact your practice? Do you have a handle on everything you need to thrive after you retire? Register today to learn the key strategies you need to know to plan your exit strategy with confidence at this 2017 conference.

Connect with your peers and learn key strategies for dealing with the issues you're likely to face, including...

- Senior lawyer concerns as related to proposed changes in President Trump's agenda
 - Insurance concerns - including tail insurance - what is it and why do I need it?
 - Succession Planning - winding up your practice and more
 - Social Security Planning
 - Elder Law Planning
 - Health care issues
 - How do I go about valuing and selling my practice?
 - Succession Planning
 - Elder Law Planning
 - Psychological implications of retirement
 - Employment concerns
 - 2017 Estate Planning Update
 - Rights, duties & liabilities - when to leave a firm
 - Wealth management
 - Knowing when to retire
- ...and more!

This conference is not just designed for attorneys age 50 and over who are looking for answers to the many questions they have as they start thinking about retirement, but also young lawyers looking to plan for their future.

A survey conducted in New York showed that among attorneys 50 and over, 24% of respondents didn't plan to retire until their 70s, 12% planned to keep working as long as they could and 22% hadn't decided what their future would be. These results show how commonplace it is, and will continue to be, for senior attorneys to practice well into their sixties, and beyond.
